

Civics and Economics Honors

Course Description

Civics and Economics is designed to give students the skills and knowledge necessary to become responsible and effective citizens in an interdependent world. Students will study legal and political systems and become aware of their rights and responsibilities. This course serves as a foundation for United States History. Civics and Economics Honors covers the material in greater complexity, novelty, and pacing. Civics and Economics Honors is distinguished by a difference in the level of the work expected, not merely an increase in quantity.

Students are required to take the NC End of Course Examination at the close of the course.
