

Marcia Simmons

Curriculum and Instruction Division Director-Math, Science, and Social Studies

Mrs. Simmons served as a high school Social Studies teacher in the Chapel Hill-Carrboro City School system for ten years teaching all levels of Social Studies classes. During the last four years, she taught ESL history classes and developed a tier system in which she kept her students for two years to teach them Civics and U.S. history. She became a National Board certified teacher in Social Studies in 2006.

Mrs. Simmons also served as an administrative intern for Chapel Hill-Carrboro before coming on board with NCVPS. Her duties involved coordinating online education, professional development for staff, and a variety of school programs as well as other duties.

Her current duties as Division Director include coordination of Math, Science, and Social Studies courses, as well as Advanced Placement courses, managing the “High 5 Process” for core subjects of Math, Science, and Social Studies, the evaluation process for teachers, and IEP/504/ESL issues for NCVPS.

Mrs. Simmons holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in History Education and a Master of Arts degree in History from North Carolina Central University and her Principal’s licensure from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
